thebristern*SCAM ALERT!

Los Angeles, beware.
Going by the name
Louis Basson Van Rooyen,
this man poses as a South African investor to try to scam and fraud
the people of LA out
of money and valuables.

He is going around
pretending to be a
pro golfer and a member of Forbes 30 under 30 to
lure in girls as his next victims. PLEASE be careful and do not fall for it like I did.

Please SHARE this story (to prevent other people from being victims of fraud)

If you have any additional info on his latest scams or whereabouts, or if he has ever tried to scam you, please DM me.

SHARE* SO WE CAN FIND THIS GUY

I believe his signature moves are fake investments, writing bad checks, and creating fraudulent wire transfer documents.

EX 1.) In an attempt to steal my friend's Ferrari, he created a fraudulent wire transfer receipt for $300,000. My friend said no driving of his car would be taking place until the funds cleared into his account. They never did. In a last attempt to take possession of the ferrarri, Louis wrote my friend a bad check for $300,000, and begged my friend to just let him test drive it so he could "propose to his girlfriend" - an excuse to attempt to steal the car, but luckily my friend never gave him possession of the vehicle.
